PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

This is an action for damages and injunctive relief brought by against SONY BMG MUSIC ENTERTAINMENT, INC. ("Defendant" or "Sony") by Plaintiff, a forty (40) year old African-American female. During her employment, Plaintiff was the victim of, inter alia, discrimination because of her race and/or disability and/or national origin and/or retaliation. Plaintiff was attacked by her Caucasian supervisor, forced to work in a hostile environment subsequent to the attack, and had repeated complaints regarding both the attack and the hostile work environment she worked in post-attack go ignored. Because Plaintiff was unable to work in the hostile work environment, Plaintiff was eventually forced to go out on a leave of absence. The discrimination and/or retaliation also resulted in Plaintiff being denied short and long-term disability benefits and as well as initially being denied worker's compensation benefits. Sony failed to assume any professional responsibility for safeguarding Patricia's mental and physical health and safety while she was working on their premises. Her disability is a direct result of being assaulted by her direct supervisor, Mrs. Barbara Warnock-Morgan ("Warnock-Morgan").

FACTS

17. Sony hired Plaintiff as a Promotion Assistant on or about September 1991.
18. While working at Sony, Plaintiff's performance was consistently satisfactory.
19. During the course of her employment, Plaintiff was never written up or disciplined formally, informally or otherwise.
20. As of 2005, Plaintiff assumed the position of Associate Director of Advertising Management in the Advertising and Marketing Services Department.
21. On or about March 30, 2006, a departmental meeting took place with Plaintiff, her immediate supervisor, Warnock-Morgan and management staff.
22. During this meeting, Warnock-Morgan became extremely hostile, angry and confrontational with members of the management staff.
23. Unprovoked, Warnock-Morgan began to yell and curse at the Plaintiff.

24. On or about March 31, 2006, Warnock-Morgan, unprovoked physically attacked Plaintiff causing her to sustain back, neck and psychological injuries.
25. Shortly after the attack, Warnock-Morgan left a message on Plaintiff's answering machine asking for her forgiveness for the attack and blaming the attack on steroid medications she was taking.
26. On or about April 3, 2006 and April 17, 2006, Plaintiff reported the attack to Kathleen Kelly ("Kelly") and Dan Alcock ("Alcock") in the Human Resources Department.
27. Immediately subsequent to the attack, Plaintiff was forced by Sony to work in a hostile work environment.
28. Subsequent to the attack, Warnock-Morgan retained her position of direct authority over Plaintiff.
29. On or about April 3 2006, three (3) days following the attack on Plaintiff, Warnock-Morgan accused Plaintiff of orchestrating the March 30, 2006 departmental meeting in Warnock-Morgan's absence (Warnock-Morgan was out of the office) to undermine her management decisions.
30. This claim was totally unsubstantiated.

31. Sony has a zero tolerance against violence in the workplace and such acts usually result in the immediate termination of the attacker.

All employees are obligated to report any drug use, legal or illegal, that may prohibit job performance or fitness for duty. Violation of this policy may result in immediate termination or suspension without pay.

36. At one point, Kelly did tell Plaintiff that Plaintiff needed to endure through her work assignments with Warnock-Morgan, make herself more accessible to Warnock-Morgan and to make sure to report her comings and goings to Warnock-Morgan in addition to awaiting for the outcome of their investigation into the assault.
37. Plaintiff was never informed of any resolution of the investigation.
38. Each day she came to work after the attack, Plaintiff feared for her safety and well-being. The lack of support from the Human Resource Department compounded Plaintiff's fears.
39. On or about May 30, 2006, Plaintiff took a medical leave of absence on the advice of her physician.
40. Plaintiff was forced to go on leave because the emotional stress of working in a hostile work environment, along with being ignored by Sony and its Human Resources Department, and the fear of working with Warnock-Morgan was further exacerbating Plaintiff's mental and physical condition.
41. Plaintiff became non-responsive to the medical treatments she was receiving since the assault.

42. On or about June 6, 2006, Plaintiff unexpectedly learned that she had been removed from Sony's payroll, with the exception of vacation pay for fifteen (15) days in June. Plaintiff has not received any paychecks since this date.
43. Because of Sony's objections, Plaintiff applied for short-term disability and was denied by Sony's insurance carrier. As per Sony's policy, based on her disability, Plaintiff was entitled to receive ninety percent (90%) of her salary while out on leave through her short-term disability policy.
44. Due to Sony's objections, Plaintiff's long-term disability has been denied.
45. Due to Sony's objections, Plaintiff's worker's compensation benefits were initially denied.
46. In addition, subsequent to being denied disability benefits in June 2006, Plaintiff did not receive a copy of the company's disability policy despite numerous requests until her previous counsel providing her with a copy in October 2007.
